What is Walmart doing with their in-store security video regarding AI? I know they were in a program where it was being used for certain things, like detecting known shoplifters, missing children, etc., at least their entry cameras were. Are they linking checkout data to facial images? Are they selling it for commercial gain? <https://www.businessinsider.com/walmart-is-facing-a-class-action-over-its-alleged-use-of-surveillance-cameras-and-clearview-ais-facial-recognition-database-2022-9>Walmart uses fa...

What is a Tornadoic Vortex Signature (#TVS) as depicted as a red triangle in my radar images? A TVS is a signature, or indication, of a potential #tornado. It is basically an indication of strong wind shear (or changing wind direction) in a very small area associated with potential tornadic circulation within a thunderstorm. A TVS is no guarantee a tornado will form, but definitely a strong indication that one may soon develop, or already has.

Where #Oklahoma, #Kansas, #Arkansas and #Missouri meet, they are getting battered right now as of this post Several radar detected TVS #tornado vortexes. Be safe #Weather #ExtremeWeather #Bentonville, #Joplin, #Independence. #TornadoWarningRelay 🚨 (Don't rely on me or my account for urgent, update-to-date info. I'm posting generically and not as a weather watcher or warning account.)

The Golden Age of K-Mart Before the days of "Super Kmarts" and "Big Ks," there was just Kmart. The first Kmart was opened in 1962, and by the mid-1970s, we were all shopping there. Revisit the days of Blue Light Specials, Kmart Cafeterias, and random wood-veneered merchandise scattered in aisles throughout the store. Stick around for the musical montage featuring two unforgettable K-mart jingles complete with in-store announcements #GenX flashback <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yjPyvoAx6qc>

Microsoft to batten security hatches on Windows admin accounts. Currently, Windows admin accounts have full access to the operating system for software installation, registry key changes, and other system file alterations, while standard accounts can only perform those tasks by entering an admin account's credentials. Going forward, explicit approval will be required for both types of accounts via Windows

Why publishers are preparing to federate their sites"The Verge and 404 Media are building out new functions that would allow them to distribute posts on their sites and on federated platforms – like Threads, Mastodon and Bluesky – at the same time. Replies to those posts on those platforms become comments on their sites."

I use a small mom & pop pharmacy but some things I have to get from a supplier or KrogerI don't have a #Medicare Advantage, only RX. I have 3 different insurance plansDoctor prescribed something covered as DME that mom & pop don't doI called Kroger to have them make sure they run it as Red White & Blue Medicare instead of RXThe lady wanted to argue. One reason why we don't use them for all is because they won't bill the right insurer & then say stuff isn't covered, causing me more work

Autocorrect keeps changing casket to gasket. Although I don't write about caskets that often, and AC might think it is doing the right thing when it changes casket to gasket, it changes the entire flow of the conversation, post or writing. 🤦 PSA: With that said, always make sure your casket has a good gasket.

My self-hosted Mastodon instance is running so smooth, it's like it got a hold of some uppers or illicit drugs or something & is in a drug-induced energy spreeA burst of energyReally weirdWaiting for it to crash and die now. lol. That's usually how it works for me, irlThe performance is so much better. I did nothing. Maybe my Sidekiq automatic restart settings caused a restart and caused it to clear something out of the memory, etc. Duh, I looked, nope. Not it. Enjoying while I can 🤪
